This is the health and safety policy statement of WIMBLEDON LABOUR HALL CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY LIMITED

UK health and safety legislation place duties on everyone concerned with work and places of work.

When it comes to health and safety, Wimbledon Labour Hall Co-operative Society Limited has two key responsibilities:

1. As an employer, the Society is responsible for providing safe and healthy workplace and safe work equipment.
2. As a provider of room facilities to organisations and the general public, the Society is responsible for ensuring these are maintained in a safe condition and that room hirers are made aware of their own health and safety responsibilities.

Under the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999, the minimum the Society must do is:

- identify what could cause injury or illness in our business (hazards);
- decide how likely it is that someone could be harmed and how seriously (the risk); and
- take action to eliminate the hazard, or, if this isn't possible, control the risk.

Employees, for their part, are responsible for taking due care of their own health and safety and that of others, including the public. (The term 'staff' below applies to both Society employees and volunteers.)

Part 1: Statement of Intent

This policy is intended to:

- prevent accidents and cases of work-related ill health
- manage health and safety risks
- provide clear instructions, information and training to ensure staff are competent to do their work
- ensure provision of personal protective equipment when needed
- provide and maintain safe premises and equipment
- ensure safe handling and use of substances
- maintain safe and healthy working conditions
- implement emergency procedures, including evacuation in case of fire or other significant incident
- consult with our employees and building users on matters affecting their health and safety
- review and revise this policy annually from December 2020.

Part 2: Responsibilities for health and safety

The Society's Chairperson has overall and final responsibility for health and safety.

Day-to-day responsibility for ensuring this policy is put into practice rests with the House Manager. In the event of that post being vacant, responsibility shall rest with the Chair of the Health & Safety Sub-Committee (see below).

Room hirers have responsibility for ensuring the health and safety of their room users and that any equipment, food or refreshments they bring into the building is safe for use. When a room is used more than once a day, hirers may be asked to clean any equipment that has been used, door handles and light switches. Cleaning materials and equipment will be provided by the Society and the booking will be given additional free time to allow for cleaning to take place.

To ensure health and safety standards are maintained/improved, the following people have responsibility in the following areas:

The Chairperson – ensuring safety, COSHH¹ compliance, risk assessments, monitoring, and emergency procedures (including fire and evacuation)

The Secretary – consulting employees and building users, RIDDOR² reporting, accident and ill-health investigations, work-related ill-health, supervision and training.

The House Manager – first aid provision, maintaining equipment (including PAT³ testing) and supplies, overseeing cleaning, building or equipment faults/damage, health and safety information provision to building users.

These three people, along with at least two Directors of the Society (one of whom shall be the sub-committee Chair), form the Society's Health & Safety Sub-Committee.

All staff should:

- be mindful of health and safety matters, take care of their own health and safety and assist room hirers and building users to do the same;
- report all health and safety concerns to the House Manager and/or the Chairperson, who will log and act upon the concerns.

Employees should note that failure to abide by health and safety responsibilities or the Society's policy can result in disciplinary action as per the Society's terms and conditions of employment.

All room hirers should:

- be mindful of this policy and health and safety matters in general, take care of their own health and safety and assist their room users to do the same;
- report all health and safety concerns to an appropriate person (as detailed above).

In the event of a health and safety incident occurring as the result of a room hirer's failure to abide by their health and safety responsibilities, the Society reserves the right to cancel future bookings.

Part 3: Arrangements for health and safety

Risk assessment

- We will complete relevant risk assessments and take action to eliminate or minimise risks.
- We will review risk assessments when working habits or conditions change.

Training

- We will provide staff with health and safety induction and appropriate training. Provision of training will be documented.
- We will provide staff with personal protective equipment when needed.

¹ Control of Substances Hazardous to Health

² The Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations 2013

³ Portable Appliance Testing

- We will ensure suitable arrangements are in place in the event of employees having to work remotely.

Consultation

- We will consult with staff routinely on health and safety matters as they arise and formally (along with building users) when our health and safety policies are reviewed.

Evacuation

- We will ensure that staff are inducted in the procedures to be followed in the event of fire or other significant incident; that these procedures are well advertised within the building; and that escape routes are well signed and kept clear at all times.

Information

- We will ensure that information on health and safety aspects and responsibilities is provided in our information to room hirers and any pre-visit prior to a first hiring, and that hirers are kept informed of any subsequent alterations in our approach towards health and safety matters.
- We will maintain a record of accidents and 'near misses' at the premises and review our practices in light of this.

GENERAL

1. Staff must carry out their duties in a manner that will not endanger themselves, colleagues or members of the public.
2. Staff and room hirers should be mindful of the possibility of unauthorised visitors to the premises. Staff should challenge any visitors thought to be unauthorised or call the police. Room hirers should report any visitor thought to be unauthorised to the House Manager at the earliest opportunity, and, if necessary, call the police. The House Manager should log details of any unauthorised entry and report the incident to the Chairperson.
3. Materials and equipment must be used in compliance with the manufacturer's instructions or directions.
4. Electrical and mechanical equipment must not be interfered with by unauthorised personnel.
5. All flammable materials and liquids must be used and stored in a safe manner. Cleaning materials, bleach, etc., must always be kept out of the reach of children in a locked cupboard, but never above head height and should never be decanted into other bottles.
6. All working places and public areas must be kept in a healthy and hygienic condition. Food must not be left overnight in the building.
7. Staff must not attempt to carry out work on the building for which they are not competent. The correct tools and equipment and (where appropriate) protective clothing for a particular job must always be used.
8. All tools and equipment must be maintained in good order and only used for the purpose they are designed for.

9. All staff will be instructed on the siting of fire fighting appliances and be acquainted with the operating instructions. Extinguishers are only to be used on fires if the user is not at risk. (see 'Fire Procedures' and 'How to Tackle a Fire' below).

10. Electricity at Work: a) Only use electrical appliances if you are satisfied it is safe to do so and you know how to operate them. b) Do not use appliances if electric leads are frayed or split, wire loose or plugs broken. Do not use broken wall sockets. c) Do not touch appliances, plugs, switches, light bulbs etc., with wet hands. d) Electrical equipment must not be interfered with by unauthorised members of the public. e) Do not remove a plug from a socket by pulling the cable. Switch off at the socket and only grasp the plug to remove it. f) Switch off all appliances at the wall socket when not in use. g) Cabling should be taped to the floor. Do not run electrical cables under carpets or leave untaped cables lying around, as they can be a hazard. h) Do not overload electrical points by using multi position adapters. i) Connecting an electrical appliance in one room by cable to a socket in a different room is expressly forbidden. j) When refilling a kettle, in the interest of your own safety, ensure that the electrical supply is switched off and the appliance is unplugged.

11. Regular inspections will be carried out by the House Manager to ensure all equipment and appliances are in a safe and usable condition and that the building is clean and safe.

12. Any faults/damage to the exterior or interior of the building or to its equipment must be reported to the House Manager at the soonest opportunity.

FIRE EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

13. The Chairperson must ensure that a drill is carried out a minimum of twice a year which involves evacuating the building. These drills must be recorded.

14. The House Manager must ensure that fire extinguishers are regularly checked and a record kept.

15. A safe and orderly evacuation is only possible if staff and building users are fully aware of the fire evacuation procedure. They must know: -

- Where the fire emergency exits are and the escape routes and assembly point.
- How to give the fire alarm.
- It may be advisable not to give a reason for evacuating to ensure people are not panicked unnecessarily.
- The nearest telephone, outside the building, in order to contact any necessary emergency services if they are unable to gain access to an office telephone or use their own (always call the Fire Brigade if a fire breaks out - telephone 999.).

HOW TO TACKLE A FIRE (for staff information only)

16. Take up a position where access to the fire is unrestricted, but where a quick and safe retreat is possible i.e. on the side of the nearest exit or, if outside, the windward side of the fire. Crouching as low as possible will help you keep clear of smoke and avoid heat and allow you a nearer approach to the fire.

17. Always ensure that a fire is completely extinguished and not able to re-ignite or continue smouldering.

DO NOT CONTINUE TO FIGHT A FIRE IF:

- It is dangerous to do so.
- If your escape route may be cut off by smoke or heat.
- If the fire continues to grow despite your efforts.
- If there are gas cylinders or flammable liquids nearby or the chance of an explosion. • If cellular foam is burning or smouldering, evacuate immediately. • If you have to withdraw, close windows and doors behind you if possible and safe to do so.

FIRE PREVENTION

18. Many fires occur outside opening hours but are often the result of human error during work hours. The risk of fire can be minimised by observing very simple rules:

- Put all wastepaper and other combustibles in waste bins.
- Remove all plugs from sockets before leaving the building (not fridges or freezers).
- Radiators must not be used for storing papers or other items at any time.
- Boxes, papers etc., must not be left on or near cookers.

FIRST AID

19. The first aid box must always be kept away from children. The box should be available to all users of the building, its location signposted and its contents checked weekly by the House Manager against an inventory to ensure it is kept properly stocked.

20. In cases of serious injury or in any doubt, send for an ambulance to take the injured person to hospital (telephone 999).

SAFETY OF PREMISES

21. Pre-function checks must be carried out by staff and room hirers before rooms can be used. As a minimum, the following checks must be made (but not assumed to be exhaustive):

- All exits unlocked, and unbolted, with exit lights operating.
- Premises clear, with no hazards apparent from loose flooring or floor fixings, or liquid on floors.
- Premises layout with furniture and equipment must ensure adequate free corridors and free access to fire exits and appliances.
- All fire appliances in position and ready for use.

22. All entrances, exits, corridors and stairways must be kept clear of furniture, refuse, loose floor covering and any other that may impede or be hazardous to the public and staff.

23. Fire and smoke-screen doors must be kept closed at all times and never wedged open.

LIFTING

24. Back injuries are a common form of accident. It does not need a heavy load to strain your back – it's the way that you lift that does the damage. Some simple lifting rules:

- Let your legs, not your back, take the strain when lifting- keep your back straight and bend your legs. Do not use your back as a lever. Only you can judge your ability to lift - if it seems that a load may be a strain, don't be shy, get help.
- Have a good grip on the object that you are lifting and do not change that grip when carrying the object. If you need to change your grip, rest the load on a firm support first.
- Always make sure that you can see over the load and that the way ahead is clear.

HYGIENE

25. Good hygiene is important at all times, but particularly during times of epidemic. As part of our responsibility to ensure a safe environment, the Society shall:

- Encourage all building users to follow guidance on hand washing and hygiene
- provide hand sanitiser at the entrance to the property and in hire rooms, in addition to washrooms
- ensure objects and surfaces that are touched regularly are regularly cleaned and disinfected, increasing frequency when necessary
- ensure particular attention is paid to cleaning busy areas
- set out clear use and cleaning guidance for the building's kitchen and toilets
- provide hand drying facilities.

26. At times, it may be necessary to prohibit bringing food or refreshments into the building.

SOCIAL DISTANCING

27. When social distancing regulations apply, the Society shall:

- put up signs to remind workers and visitors of social distancing guidance
- review the maximum permitted numbers of people in our rooms
- make use of floor tape to mark areas to help people keep distance
- put up guidance on traffic priorities through the workplace
- arrange to see visitors by appointment only
- reserve the right to require all building users to wear face masks.
